Cry, Liberia, Cry!

G. Henry Andrews

Lush and green, Lofa was once the breadbasket of Liberia. But farming has slowed in the northern county. The reason is Ebola. The virus reportedly first landed in Liberia when an infected person crossed the border into Lofa County from neighboring Guinea in March. Doctors Without Borders is there to care for the sick.