At the heart of it all was William Magear Tweed, nicknamed â€œBoss Tweed,â€ the corrupt politician behind the Tammany Hall party machine from the height of its power in 1868 to his eventual downfall in 1871. Â In 1856, he was elected to the Board of Supervisors, and by 1860 he was head of Tammany Hallâm€™s general committee. That same year, he opened a law office, despite not having any training as a lawyer, and collected thousands of dollars of payments for â€œlegal fees,â€ which in reality were extortion payments for illegal services.
